W.T. Bland Public Library Expanding Library Hours

MOUNT DORA, Fla. (September 20, 2017) – The W.T. Bland Public Library is happy to announce expanding library hours starting Saturday, September 30, 2017.

The library, located at 1995 North Donnelly Street in Mount Dora will be expanding weekend hours allowing visitors and patrons more time to use the facilities. Saturday hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will now include Sunday hours of 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The Mount Dora Library is the only public library in Lake County to offer Sunday hours of operation.

“We’re excited to provide both the citizens of Mount Dora and all of Lake County the opportunity spend time at the library on Sundays,” says Adult Services Librarian Cathy Lunday. “Our staff is eager to welcome patrons and help you check out a DVD, download an e-book, read our newspapers, find books for homework, access our genealogy software or just relax and work on a puzzle.”

The W.T. Bland Public Library is a state-of-the-art facility that offers children, teen and adult programs year-round. You don’t have to have a library card to visit our library and use the public access computers. Patrons with Lake County Library System library cards have full borrowing privileges, as well as access to all the system’s digital products. In addition, Mount Dora Library cardholders are able to access streaming services such as Hoopla and Kanopy, and digitally publish their books for free using BiblioBoard. The Library offers 36 public access PCs, five early learning literacy stations, free Wi-Fi, both local and national daily newspapers and over 100 monthly magazines.

The expansion of library hours will also allow for the expansion of regular and new programs that will be offered for kids and adults. Keep up with our calendar online or stop in and grab one for new, fun programs that will be in the works!
